OUTCOME BASED EDUCATION

Outcome Based Education has been introduced with an objective of making every student industry ready by providing adequate practical exposure along with a sound background of theoretical knowledge. Every student, when he/she becomes a graduate, should possess certain attributes and should also be prepared to meet the challenges in the world of strict competition. Therefore, for each and every subject that is being taught in any program, the objectives of teaching the subject are clearly defined and once the student completes the program, the outcomes which are expected from such a student are also clearly stated. The Teaching, Learning methods are accordingly devised and the assessment of the performance of the student is done to measure the levels of learning and the outcomes achieved. In short, learning happens and the student is able to understand every concept clearly and able to practice whatever he/she has learnt. Even after leaving the college, a student is continuously monitored to see whether he is able to achieve his goal and be a smart employee of the organisation in which he/she
